INDEX

Volume XXXIII, 2003

No. 1, 2003, p. 1–128
No. 2, 2003, p. 129–245
No. 3, 2003, p. 247–366
No. 4, 2003, p. 367–491

AL-SHARRAH, Y.A. The Arab tradition of medical education and its relationship with the European tradition, 413

AKKARI, A. What is education's role?, 397

ARAYICI, A. The problems of immigrant children in Europe: The case of the Turks, 453

BABER, R.; DE KLERK, A.; WALKER, C. Environmental education and its role in the Waterberg Biosphere Reserve, South Africa, 283

BEIJER, M.; BOLIN S. Curriculum development for social inclusion in Sweden, 51

BELDERRAIN, J.E. An interpretation of global trends from the perspective of the Latin-American multicultural society, 139

BRASLAVSKY, C. Education for sustainable development and community life in the twenty-first century, 247

BRASLAVSKY, C. Education, globalization and international action, 1

BRASLAVSKY, C. Schools today: shortage of teachers or shortage of meaning?, 129

BRETHERTON, D.; WESTON, J.; ZBAR, V. Peace education in a post-conflict environment: the case of Sierra Leone, 219

ESTIVALÈZES, M. Teaching about religion in the French education system, 179

FASOKUN, T.O. Aliu Babtunde Fafunwa (1923–), 115

FRASER, R.; JAMIESON, G. Community environmental education: challenges within the biosphere reserve concept, 293

FRAYHA, N. Education and social cohesion in Lebanon, 77

FRÜHWALD, W. Knowledge culture or knowledge market? On the new ideology of the university, 103

GROSS, Z. State-religious education in Israel: between tradition and modernity, 149

GUDYNAS, P. Education and social inclusion in Lithuania, 63

HALPERIN, R.; RATTEREE, B. Where have all the teachers gone? The silent crisis, 133

HASBI, A. Introduction to the open file, 375

HEYNEMAN, S. What the United States needs to learn from UNESCO, 7

HOLSINGER, D.B. The secondary school curriculum question in Viet Nam: what should be taught?, 339

HUERTA, J.M. Landscape and environmental education in Urdaibai, 313

IHTIYAR, N. Islam in German textbooks: examples from geography and history, 427

KAM, B.D.; SANOU, O. Reform and processes of curricular development in Burkina Faso, 29

KRULL, E. Hilda Taba (1902–1967), 481

LOPEZ, J.S. Nationalism, education and basic competencies, 467

MARETH, M. Response to the questionnaire by the Minister of the Environment, Cambodia, 273

MIKLOS, M. The history of Arabic studies in Hungary, 405

MOW, J.M.; HOWARD, M.; DELGADO, C.M.; TABET, S. Promoting sustainable development: a case study of the Seaflower Biosphere Reserve, 303

ORAMAS, M.S. Teaching diagnosis, school curriculum and the quality of education, 19

PRABHANANDA, S. Swami Vivekananda (1863–1902), 231

PRETORIUS, S.G.; XUE, Y.Q. The transition from elite to mass higher education: A Chinese perspective, 89

RACHMAN, A. Developing a sustainable educational policy for a better quality of mankind, 367

REIMERS, F. War, education and peace, 3

RIVARD, J.-F.; AMADIO, M. Teaching time allocated to religious education in official timetables, 211

ROSE, O.H.; BRIDGEWATER, P. New approaches needed to environmental education and public awareness, 263

RUPÉREZ, F.L. Globalization and education, 249

SHAW, K.E. Technical education in an Arab-European dialogue, 439

SOLDATOV, A. The vicissitudes of secular theology in the Russian Federation, 191

SPRINGUEL, I.; BELAL, A.E. Wadi Allaqi Biosphere Reserve, 325

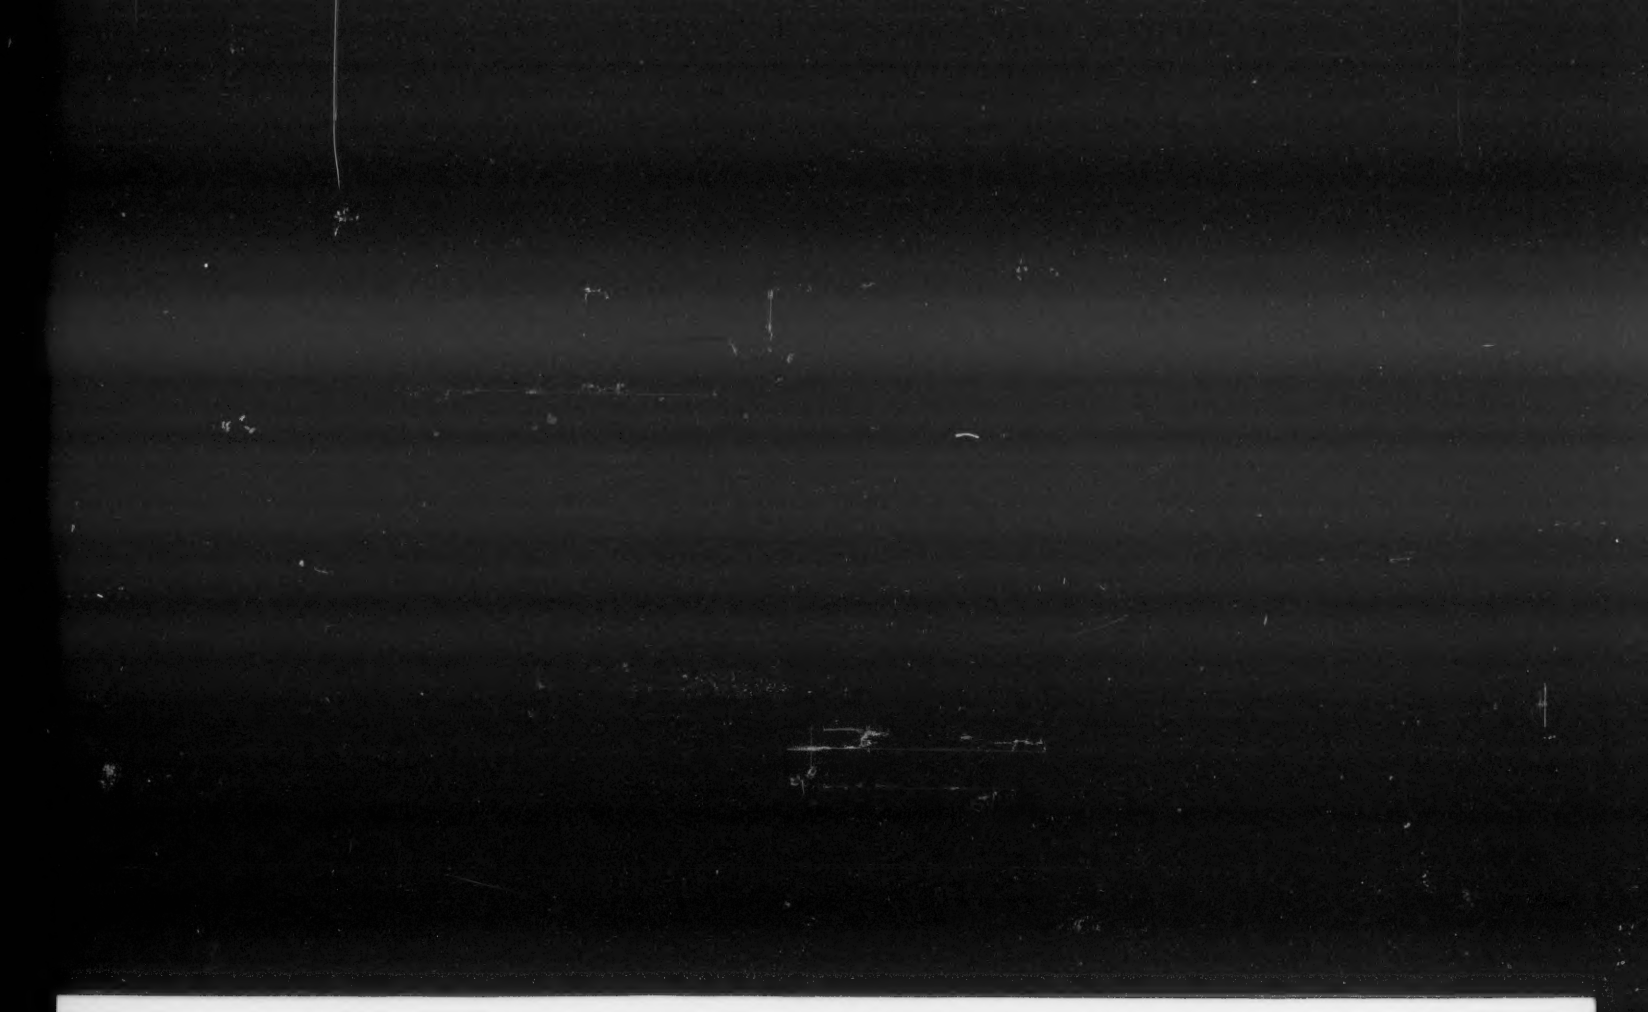
TARHOUNI, F.; SCHÖFTHALER, T. Interregional strategy 'Learning to live together': an initiative well under way, 385

TAWIL, S. Introduction to the Open File, 11

TRAORE, M.T. Response to the questionnaire by the Minister of Education, Mali, 277

WIMBERLEY, J. Education for intercultural and interfaith dialogue: a new initiative by the Council of Europe, 199

WOJNAR, I. Maurice Debesse (1903–1998), 353

ZIA, R. Religion and education in Pakistan: an overview, 165


ZIN, S.M.S. Reforming the science and technology curriculum: the Smart School initiative in Malaysia, 39